Joseph C. Hillier, D.D. S.
President
Chester, Virginia

Dear Joe:

Everyone here at your General Office extends congratulations to you upon your election as the first president of your club.

We are confident you will thoroughly enjoy your associations in Kiwanis and will experience an ever increasing sense of satisfaction from your contributions as an administrative leader in Kiwanis affairs.

You will benefit greatly by giving careful study to the president's manual and other literature which you received at your organizational meeting. The manual is the basic guide to the duties and responsibilities of your office including valuable administrative procedures and activity suggestions for each standing committee. The latter are a duplicate of the committee program sheets which you were asked to give to your respective committee chairmen.

As you now know, the primary function of a Kiwanis club is to render altruistic service and to build better communities. A service activity is a planned project, consistent with the Objects, Objectives, and policies of Kiwanis International, sponsored by a Kiwanis Club for the benefit of an individual, a group of individuals, the community, or the nation. Therefore, through committee recommendation, your Board of Directors should early adopt some project well within the scope of the club so that every member, at an early date, will be able to interest himself in a relationship between his club and his community through such a project.

We hope you have distributed the Members' Activity Questionnaire, copies of which you received at your organizational meeting. In this questionnaire your members were asked to recommend service projects which will meet the real needs of your community. These suggestions together with those found in the committee programs will enable your club to develop a significant and well-rounded program of youth and community service.

If you have any questions concerning club administration and committee functioning, do not hesitate to call upon the Staff for assistance.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

Lonny
